Leather

Biocuir®

Chrome is used in approximately 90% of all leather treatments in the world, and its use has been during a concern for our environment for a long time.

Biocuir® is a "friendly" System free of Chrome and heavy metals, complying with European Union laws.

The result is a sustainable and eco leather.

Leather with Biocuir® treatment is natural as can be wood or other organic material. It can therefore have small differences in color.

We recommend avoiding sun overexposure for avoiding turning dark, which is the typical leather color.

It is recommended to use hand cream and moisture to keep leather longlasting in perfect conditions.

It is important to note that, using Biocuir®, our bags can never pollute our environment after use, being 100% biodegradable, same as other natural materials.
